The Johanna Andersson Foundation for Nutrition Physiology Research (92900)

The foundation is hereby accepting applications for the following grant.

Purpose: Grants are awarded as support for research in the field of nutrition, focusing on the improvement of public health using innovative food concepts. Grants are not awarded for an individual’s education or recreation, or other personal needs. Precedence in the awarding of grants is given to doctoral students.

Amount: SEK 180 000

Application
Applications for research grants from the foundation are to be made via the Lund University application system for scholarships and grants. A link to the application form is available via:

http://www.staff.lu.se/research-and-education/research-support/travel-and-research-grants/other-grants-and-scholarships

The application and any other relevant documentation must be submitted via the application system no later than 21 March 2019.

Disbursement
Disbursement to persons employed at Lund University/other higher education institution will be made to the applicant’s department. Where applicable, the application is to include the department’s overhead costs. It is appropriate to include these under the heading ‘other costs’. In such cases, the costs stated in the application are to exclude VAT.

In cases where, in accordance with the statutes of the foundation, grants can be awarded to organisations outside Lund University /other higher education institution or to students directly, the disbursement will be made to a personal bank account or equivalent. In such cases, the costs stated in the application are to include VAT.

Ex officio
